

Electronic Signatures for Construction

eSignatures are legally binding and more businesses than ever in the construction sector have been incorporating them into their document processes.

The construction industry can feel comfortable using eSignatures and enjoy the benefits that come with eSigning with Signable.

You can find out more details on eSignatures by reading the Law Society's practice note found here.

With eSignatures you can have your forms filled quickly including:

- Purchase Orders
- Proposals
- Subcontractor Agreements
- Change Orders
- New Hire Paperwork

How do eSignatures help?

Faster turnaround time

It's critical in construction to get contracts completed quickly and efficiently. With eSignatures documents can be signed anywhere, at any time, reducing turn around time massively - around 80% quicker on average!

This means less time spent on admin and more time available to keep projects on schedule.

Protect your documents

Security is important for every business and eSignatures provides a safer process than paper documents offer keeping sensitive/personal information secure. Signable take security very seriously, you can find out more about here.

Paperless processes and document

Manage all your documents at the click of a button. You can easily keep track of all your documents and contacts in one place, all the while reducing paper consumption and printing costs within your business!

Retrace your steps

With eSignatures every action is logged. Every action is traced, from whether a document has been opened to the date and time it was signed, along with IP addresses & location.

A full audit log of every action is saved and sent as a PDF with each completed document.
